

Reginald Proctor – Artist Profile

My first introduction to painting was having lessons at The Royal Art Society, North Sydney, in the late 1970's. I attended classes in watercolour one afternoon and drawing one night per week for two years.

After that I completed a four-year, part-time Art Certificate Course at the Technical College situated in Kogarah. That course consisted of History of Art & Architecture, Design & Colour, Painting, Drawing, Print Making and Photography. In 1997, I attended the School for Silversmiths at St Peters, one night per week for one year.

I have a miner's hut on a mining claim at Lightning Ridge and I spend time there each year. I am a member of the Lightning Ridge Arts & Craft Council, Historical Society and Opal Centre.

In 2011 and 2014 I had a one-man exhibition at the Lightning Ridge Art Space. The 2014 exhibition also included some of my jewellery. I have won a number of awards in both Art and Jewellery.
